..i was thinking for the lavender bath on gsj to do some horizontal white stripes on the wall. both sides of the sink walls only and continuing on the ceiling too.
in the attachment i photoshop-ed one image from yesterday. so it would look like in the picture.. is it ok?

good morning,

..i made the design on the wall using tape 1 inch and 1,5 inch for the lines. what do you think? i made it not symmetrical.. or should i do it symmetrical, somehow like in the last image attached? if we are going to do this design around the door and on the opposite wall where the mirror will be then maybe no horizontal lines on the sides walls.. it would be too much i guess. eventually the side walls could be that strong blue from the entrance, but more transparent.. so a little lighter..

what do you think?

thinner lines . more delicate

..image no1..something like this, and somehow same design on the other wall where the sink is.
on sides walls could be horizontal blue lines.. same strong blue like at the entrance

or image no2 with a oblique squares design.. could be done with black or blue..same like at the entrance.., and i was thinking the cabinets under the sink could be blue or magenta. then on the opposite wall, we can put some orange..so you see thru the door the strong blue in the entrance room..

i think better if you are in the room to visualize it..

i dont know.., what do you think?

hi jeffrey,

..i didn't know that you had to leave saturday..

i finished painting black the crown molding in chillax room..

i have some ideas for chillax bathroom.. i'll show you when you get back..better if you are here, then we can think it together.

is it ok if tomorrow i will work on gsj at lavender bedroom's bathroom? i was thinking for that doing some horizontal one feet(maybe less) wide lines. same lavender color.. a little darker maybe. so then will be horizontal lines.. white and lavender..

in lavender bedroom i have to do also closet's doors, and the ceiling. i will put some sample on the ceiling too..
