I'm back this weekend as well. just a note, they continued for weeks each week to ask for more info . to be able to delay it, and still say we will deal with it when complete. . including a note that only a rubber tire bobcat should be used to clean debris. . this is only to clean the island i am not building a nuclear power plant on Great St James.

Of course I did and as would recall, I spoke with him prior to the submission of your completed application. It's all noted in our communications.

I'm finishing up the last leg of my trip. Should be home by the weekend

So I dropped in on Michele today unannounced to deliver some assignment docs to her and to question her about the permits. She had no idea that the permits weren't issued yet and assured me that she would look into it and get back to me. Shortly thereafter JP advised (via email) that he would finish his review of the draft permits tomorrow and have executed versions out this week.
