You're gonna love this story! I botched it all up trying to "casually mention" this fiasco now creeping into everyone's sex lives + future... And now I'm pretty sure this person thinks I have AIDS! Tell everyone they should practice what to say aloud before blurting "too many toothbrushes", "incurable", "nothing to do with you", "it's a new thing" On top of it I was trying not to laugh because it was all going so badly. The next line worse than the one before. You would have been laughing for weeks.
