if you truly want scientists to endorse, encourage or at least, not disparage and disregard. the first few pages need some changes. science has just proved that the eye responds to one single photon. the term "invisible" means, your eye does not react to it, unable to be seen. a single photon can be "seen:" since that means that BY definition, your eye reacts to it. a chair in a dark room is still a chair, it is not invisible. though it cannot be seen, the fact that when you close your eyes you can still see the chair. ie it is visible but with no light. it becomes a OBJECT

We may be on the same page here strangely .

The contents of consciousness are modified ( modifications) forms of consciousness . Mind body and entire universe of perceptions is that .

There is only consciousness. Nothing else !

Bohm has clearly distinguished between consciousness and the contents of consciousness.

So has The Sarfatti.

The mechanism for the emergence of the consciousness mental field is universal. The contents of consciousness have to do with excited state patterns out of the advanced and retarded ground states induced by the classical be able signals that they pilot.
