Jeff,

It was nice to hear back from you. The problem with being a "medical Sherlock" is that medical dilemmas are often too easy for me to help solve. Regarding your issue : has anyone previously tested you for a C1 inhibitor deficiency? This is what I suspect may be the culprit for several of your symptoms, and if you haven't been tested- please do so at your earliest convenience.

Once we know the answer as to whether this is the 'smoking gun", we can discuss further what we can do together. We can also address the elevated triglycerides, etc

BTW, I'm sure Perry mentioned that this is often what I do while pretending to have a real job at Genomind. At some point in my life( maybe soon), I may need to be focused on helping clients directly again.

Sincerely,

Jay

Hi Jeff,

I hope you are well. I know Perry speaks very highly of you and since we didn't get to speak very long, wanted to tell you a bit more about who I am.

Let me know if I can be of any further help to you in the future.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jay
