On that I agree

I will bring you my new book galleys when I see you . We have metabolized wisps of memory and threads of desire to each create our universe .

I hope I'm not giving the impression I'm anti science .

Human consciousness uses science as a door to reality and has now brought us to the door of the sub empirical. Now it can take us no further . 99.9 % of reality is un manifest. The human universe is what consciousness looks like to itself !

The dream has been evolving for 14 billion years and continues to do so .

I'm now in the transit lounge in Singapore

My life is a series of transit lounges !!

but it all a dream, i can use it to install a dream in your head, and for you to install one in mine . i can use consiouness as a connector to try to understand you. to connect to you, to coordinate and protect myself with or from you

I knew you would say that !

Doing science is also an experience in consciousness. You can't use a dream to explain a dream !

A reality outside of consciousness is unknowable.

There is no scientific explanation for consciousness.

How can we then be sure of what is real ?

Is the universe a dream ?
