Dear Jeffrey,

I hope that this email finds you well and that you have had a good week so far.

I have hesitated to reach out to you earlier (as I might be bothering you). However, if you have the, and is willing to speak with me, may I call you at some point?

Also, may I ask, do you know Bob Wigley? (I am meeting him in a couple of weeks)

I am sorry if I am bothering you, and, as always, I do understand if you do not have the time to speak with me.

Kindly,

[REDACTED]

Dear Jeffrey,

It was a true privilege and pleasure meeting you again last night; THANK YOU for interesting conversations, your hospitality, and for inviting us.

I am sorry to bother you but I am kindly wondering if I may disturb you with two questions; thus, would you have the time to either meet me or talk with me on Skype (or on the phone) at any point? I do know that your time is precious and I of course understand if this is not possible.

Once again, thank you for a very nice and memorable evening last night.

Yours sincerely,
