What I wanted to say is that it might not cure it but it slows the process since an alkaline diet doesn't feed the cancer. Does this make sense ?

Today I've learned so many things. It takes 21 days for your body to adap. Your cells renew more or less every month and maintaining your body high in alkaline and high in oxygen prevents getting cancer. The vegan diet helps you maintain these levels by avoiding acidic nutriment that feeds the cancer. Is that correct?
