This is manipulation and none of them are working on our best interest, while they should be helping and providing us guidance, as you have been doing. There is a crusade to recover the "Holy Land" and I am on their way.

Dear Noam, and Valeria,

We did not disclose any financial or tax information to Max Kohlenberg in his telephone call to Matt Mazotas earlier this morning. Max stated that he had received a call from Mr. Kahn inquiring about Max's ability to make funds available for tax payments. Max therefore called Matt to see if we had any information about the amounts of tax payments that were due. Matt informed Max that he did not have any information about tax payments, and that we did not have enough information that would be necessary to calculate the tax payments that would be due on 4/17. In short, we did not provide any financial or tax information to Max Kohlenberg.

Please note that it is a routine procedure for various members of the advisory team be able to communicate with each other to collaborate for the best interests of each client. Toward that objective, you signed our standard authorization form allowing us to communicate directly with your other advisers that is valid until April, 15, 2019. This would include advisors like Bainco, RIW, Max and more recently you authorized us to talk with Mr. Kahn.

Before we continue with any further work for your 2017 tax returns, would you please sign and return our engagement letter that was included in the package that was sent to you in January.

Best regards,

Nick

I understand from Richard Kahn that you informed Max Kohlenberg about the financial information that we provided to you yesterday. Plainly, this is quite improper. Kohlenberg has no right to know anything that I do not personally provide him with. This is a serious breach of confidentiality. Could you please inform me -- and me alone! -- of the amount of taxes that are due.

Noam
