Matt:

Yaniv Nakash and Martin Scharf have been working with Loren Biller of Ladder Capital and expect to get a firm loan commitment by tomorrow morning. I understand that this is the same firm that extended financing to David Mitchell.lender

Messrs. Nakash and Scharf are ready to commit to the nonrefundable portion of the deposit and to pay the necessary commitment fee. However, I am leaving for a trip tomorrow afternoon and will be back on Tuesday (April 17) and my clients are uneasy about any last minute snags in my absence.

Accordingly, we would like David Mitchell to give us another short extension to April 17 so that we can put everything in place without jeopardizing the deposit.

Thank you for all your courtesies in this matter.

Best regards,

Paul

Yaniv just spoke with David Mitchell about the where he stands with the loan commitment.

Yaniv already has a term sheet, but is waiting for a firm loan commitment before allowing a portion of the deposit to become non-refundable. Note that he will also have to give the lender a $50,000 fee as well. We should hopefully know more by the end of today.

We plan to contact you and David later once we receive the commitment.

Best regards,

Paul

Paul—I'm following up again. When will we receive the Buyer's signature to the Amendment?

Thanks.

Paul—I hope you had a nice weekend. I'm following up on the email traffic from last week. Will your client be signing the Amendment today?

Thanks.

Matt

Yaniv just has to speak with his partner and then they will both sign at the same time.
