April 30th time frame may work, but closer to April 27. I may need to be on the West Coast and Tokyo around then.

Jeffrey can tell you how much he is doing.

The company website is www.taranawireless.com.

Many thanks Greg - sounds very interesting.
Can you send me something on this? How much is Jeffery putting in?
How about we meet April 30th or May 1st in Los Angeles if you have time?
All the best
David

After people found I was coming in several others said they wanted to invest and/or tried to offer competing deals. Fortunately I had locked up the voting rights to the largest shareholder and the shareholders really wanted my experience more than money.

I hear he is willing to come in at the set price of $2.00/share, but I don't know, because I hear he is also asking for other deal terms. I guess I will talk with him this week, but I don't really want to complicate the deal structure. I just want to close and have a real clean cap table going forward for the next round.
