95% of BBJ's have the flat ceiling. Unless you buy a recent aircraft from 2012 you would not have it.

We have the next showing today and we firmly believe the buyer see the value and they are not bothered about the position of the Galley.

The Avjet BBJ is going to cost you more, because it will have all the AD's due that have been completed on this Aircraft. Furthermore, that aircraft has more hours on the Engine and it will be due. For shop visit sooner.

Also, they had a $26M offer that was not even replied to.

ali thank you for showing us the plane yesterday, I m very glad i saw it in person. I have asked larry to check on viability of raising ceiling. PLease feel free to take other offers. I will not feel badly if someone else takes it. . the flat ceiling , the rear galley, the funky tiny bedroom, makes the redo much more complicated. consider this email notice that we will notify escrow agent , that our loi is no morel . I hope one of your other two buyers that are waiting in the wings takes it quickly, I will fly to la on the 30 to see the avjet bbj,
