JE,

In terms of women, I don't see a problem with this list: Jennifer Jacquet, Katinka, Anne Treisman (Kahneman's wife) - no problem. Margaret Levi a savvy political scientist and a savvy lady, replaced Kosslyn at Stanford. Finally, Barbara Mellars, Tetlock's wife. I don't see a problem but I can check with two phone calls.

None of the guys who have accepted should have a problem. Fyi, Kahneman is ok. I should check with Tetlock. If anything, the only people might be the corporate guys I've yet to hear from. I could see the founders of the big companies unhappy if they got the Prince Andrew treatment by the press in terms of photos and reportage.

The only reporters are Markoff and Andrian Kreye (who you met) both friends who should be able to cover the event without mentioning you. Only one person to date has a blog.

Venter is close to agreeing to come. If he comes I will get Church with whom I just had breakfast. He will come if you fly out from Boston and give him a ride.

SPECIAL CASE

This is all being handed by Tetlock. I am not in the loop. He is in touch with The Office of the DNI (General James Clapper) and there is talk about the possibility of Clapper attending. IARPA, which is under him, funds Tetlock's project. 1. There are major security issues about his traveling anywhere. It takes a lot of preparation; and 2. There are daily developments around the world which might require his attention.

Another issue, for EDGE, is do we want to be perceived as being connected with the national intelligence establishment.
