2. would be nice to find a biological underpinning for harmony / beauty, my guess is an energy efficiency . smooth shapes. . as the auditory system needs to do a fourier transform to decode a musical chord. , if the energy it takes is too high , the sound seems painful. ie keys on glass. too difficult to transform. poetry? visual beauty? (minimal energy to transform) as important to idealize and to think about as conflict , inequality ,and bad behavior.
