If they're referring to the Astra that is parked in front of our hanger, NO one does maintenance on that plane., There is plenty of room to move that plane against the edge of ramp., Jets should not be allowed due to size to be parked in light aircraft area.,

I spoke to Dowe today and he said that he has contacted to owners of the planes. They will try to remove the broken plane and the other one is parked there for maintenance and there is not much that they can do because there is limited space.

With warm regards,
Cecile
