seems like gregory is trying to keep himself busy with nonsense such as monitoring construction and not focusing on household items you requested shall i ask him to bring print outs to 71st and review with you this week on thursday or friday please advise thank you

Rich,
Hello.

I've heard nothing back from the email below sent to Jeffrey on thursday of last week.
I edited a large package of print outs that [REDACTED] had done and she took them with her to visit him to get his choices.

I've been at 66th street both friday and today monitoring the construction and documenting the furniture left in the temporary apartment that Anthony let us use. Andrew was the only one who had a key to the room and was missing in action every time I was at the building last week, even when I set up times to meet.

I will now forward the images to [REDACTED] to see if there is anything she wants.

Also I have been in constant contact with Artifacts and the delivery company as a way of keeping the ball moving.

They say that the sofas will be brought up the stairs on friday, tentatively. After I laid into them for putting it off until the Feb 2nd. You were also copied on the remaining dates for the outstanding items and they plug right it to the schedule I produced last week, so that is still correct as of now.

While I was up there I called Merwin to see the scaffolding at 71st. had come down and it has but he was not ready to move the chairs in place because they are still doing finishing touches in there and cleaning up before he moves them in place late this afternoon.

Gregory

Dear Jeffrey,

Attached is the furniture delivery schedule as per Artefacto.
The February, March and April dates are all tentative at this time.

After you review the choices that you made with [REDACTED] for the appliances and accessories,
I will then add them to the list.

Gregory
