Grupo Empresarial de La Industria Portuaria is a cuban com that is behind the port takeover.. they are making a joint venture with Chavez. to control both countries ports and raise prices.. They are your trouble not Venezuela.. The end game should be , trying to operate all the ports for both countries. IT will take some time. you should personally concentrate on Cuba. you need an overall Latin America/Cuba strategy. no problem getting a meeting with C, but now is not the right time. collect your political risk insurance if you have any, and approach it like business, they are concerned that you guys feel upset. they will need to defend their indefensible position .. the heat has to dissipate.. 3-5 weeks/ my guess
