

From: Jeffrey Epstein <jeevacation@gmail.com>
To: Story Cowles <[REDACTED]>
Subject: Re: Landscaping
Date: Sat, 03 Oct 2009 15:03:09 +0000

try

On Sat, Oct 3, 2009 at 10:41 AM, Story Cowles <[REDACTED]> wrote:

Idea from Alan:

I don't like the idea a different bush to the bougainvilla.

We could mount Confederate jasmine on that wall near the Coconut palm. It receives nearly a half day of sunlight so blooms won't be prolific but will show intermittently with fragrance during the year. Generally, April brings a huge flush of flowers that last weeks with tons of fragrance. I also could install a Night Blooming Jasmine shrub in place of some purple Bouganvillea west or north of the pool. This shrub can grow large, 10' or smaller and blooms intermittently throughout the year with night time only fragrance. Again, all of this needs as much sunlight as possible but they display flower they are very fragrant, much more than the Gardenia. You need to get real close to Gardenia flowers to pick up the fragrance.

Sent from Story's iPhone

--

The information contained in this communication is confidential, may be attorney-client privileged, may constitute inside information, and is intended only for the use of the addressee. It is the property of Jeffrey Epstein. Unauthorized use, disclosure or copying of this communication or any part thereof is strictly prohibited and may be unlawful. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us immediately by return e-mail or by e-mail to jeevacation@gmail.com, and destroy this communication and all copies thereof, including all attachments.