We had a very good Board call yesterday. I believe that a loan from me for $250-500K would go an enormous way in terms of leverage -- I just got off the phone with Neil Raymond (Innovium) and he believes that his group could make up the difference (up to the $500K). It would be a big help to me if we could move forward with the loan this week. I feel confident that this is the right strategy.

By the way, our meeting in Brussels last Friday with the European Commission went extremely well and they're interested in [REDACTED] as a pan-European cyber-infrastructure for research.
