The solution we had with Val-Comm took us several months to engineer. The need for a separate button for every speed dial does not make this the right solution. So we need to get a handset that meets this requirement and is determined to be acceptable by you. Once we have that, we can determine the pricing, system and installation costs. We don't really have much to go on without you signing off on a handset.

Please advise,

WM

Data connectivity to the island has been restored. Steve from ETC is ordering example handsets for the NEC and Panasonic systems for you to review prior to working up a fully engineered solution.
