I am focusing on "credibility, safety, integrity of a twenty first century system.". I would think very high tech, not secret, but password protected. My early morning thinking- is that with a public key type encryption, one might meet all the world rules on disclosure, but at the same time - have total total privacy.

Dear Jeffrey,

I was very happy to meet you. Have no doubt that we will have fun. Regards and have a safe trip back to your paradise Island.

Regards.
