Importance: normal

You have so many radical ideas and people at your disposal...need/want more? Do you have an appetite for more in terms of actual things to implement or just to think about?

There's neat stuff going on w younger and less established scientists.

I'm assuming the list of things below meant to preempt any discussion about the poverty work I do. I don't love it either but it is my job and has taught me patience and optimism, 2 things I'm bad at...my brain is definitely starting to atrophy. I know. Perhaps better off practicing medicine and wasting time thinking about cool science instead. On the fence and still not sure what I am good at. If anything.

If it is anything within my skillset or if you just want input from the closest thing you have to a younger(much!) and better looking sister let me know.

Free in a bit

Wait....did you get married?

Wow

It takes a lot to rattle you

Is there anything I can do or anything you want to talk about?
