

From: [REDACTED] >

To: JE Jail <jeevacation@gmail.com>

Subject: visa

Date: Wed, 15 Dec 2010 13:05:22 +0000

Attachments: xmas-small.jpg; [REDACTED]; gold-small.jpg; Skirt-small.jpg; bodysuit-small.jpg; face-small.jpg; LaPerla-small.jpg; Window-small.jpg; chairs-small.jpg; 5.jpg; beauty2-small.jpg

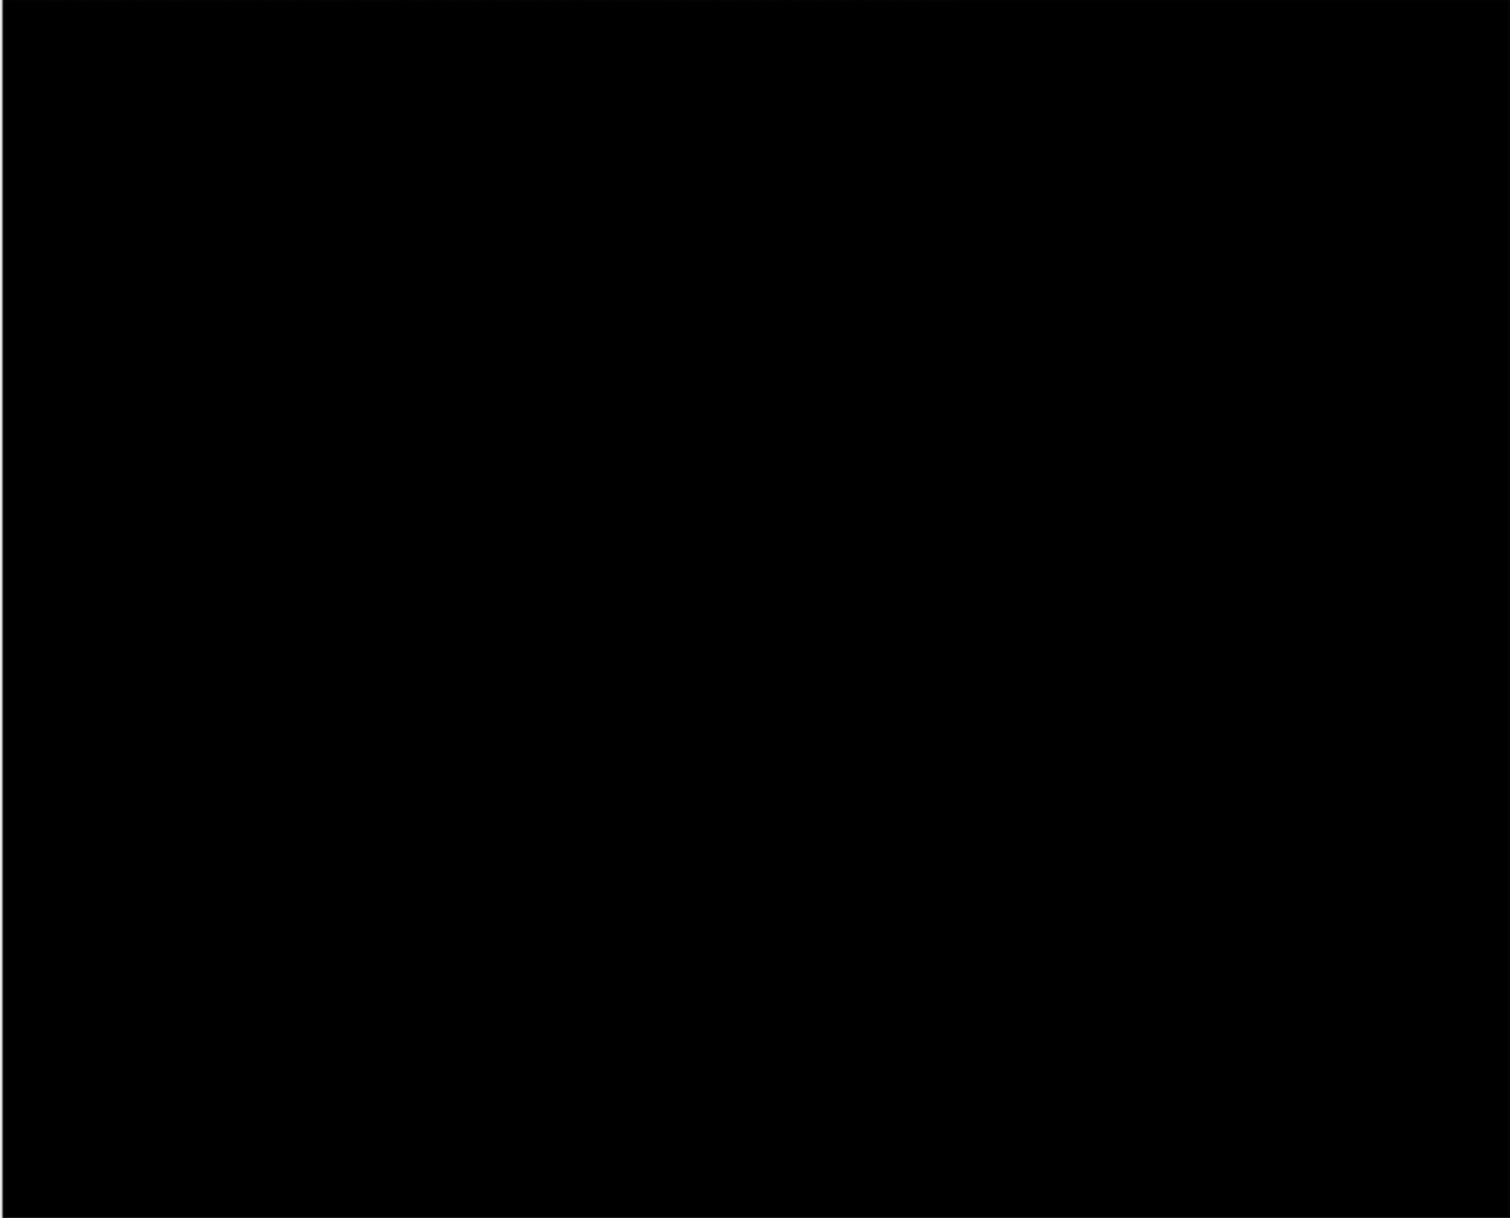

---

Welcome back!
Hope you had a fun trip.

I figured I would do my part first so I found photographers and got some new pictures (attached). Some of them still need to be fixed or cropped but it's a start; I am expecting more next week..

Regarding the lawyer,, I must say the office is not very well run and it makes me a bit nervous. The attorney I initially met with never answered any of my calls, messages or emails after our meeting. I then contacted the owner - your guy - to find out what was going on. He apologized profusely but gave no explanation for the first lawyer's disappearance. Then he just assigned this indian guy to my case whose english is not great.. I want to make sure you know enough about this firm to want to use them..do you ?

This is an email from the new lawyer with a list of documents to begin the process:

I now need the agency in order to move forward with the application. They need to provide: copies of all previous visa applications & documents, modeling contract ( both old and new) , some industry recommendation letters and eventually help with I-485 form.

Do you think I can get that or will I need to switch?

