Update on Scott

He finally provided me with his task list (see attachment)

I told him that he should provide me with a budget for each line item so we can get approved by you

He said he wants a total dollar figure for a budget and will not break down for me

I told him that is not how we operate and he told me that is not how he operates

He then tells me that we have messed up his life and his father is in the hospital [REDACTED]

We are not dealing with a sane individual here (bella can give you more details)

He said that he is going to decide in the next 24 hours if he can continue to work for us..
