I am resending this email from october.. The Ipad in the movie room is also , not good. It makes no sense.. In the middle of the move , to make any adjustment. you have to turn it on, then slide it on then while lighting up the whole area push the next button, then if you decide to switch again, begin the process over again.turn it on slide it on the hand held can be picked up in the dark the volume controls felt. lights for the remote can be on or off. THIS makes no sense.. I have been consistant from the start.
