No other JE numbers...I'm surprised they have these two. It's been pretty impossible to get a one digit number unless you convince the current owners to sell theirs. Usually you reserve a number on the FAA website for 10$ but the only ones left are longer. This company made a business out of buying any short tail numbers that don't get renewed by owners and reselling them.

So it's 2k now and just $10 to renew if you decided to not use it till the next plane. :)

How would you like a one digit N number? I found a company that owns and can sell 3JE or 9JE for $2000.
You can't get anything that short from the FAA anymore... Just thought you might like it.
