Jeffrey,

Here are the latest based on our meeting last week.

Studies based on proportions of terraces, cascading stairs, and how they all relate to the various axial views you had mentioned that were important to the overall plan.

The Living room is now 30'x60' with the vestibule removed.

There are subtle differences to the three options.

Please call me so I can walk you through them if you like.

We can narrow it down so we can get a 3D model going.

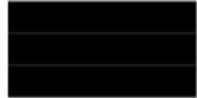

Let us know if we are on the right track.

Thanks!

Tom
