I've seen that the creator of the world simplified himself to technology, almost to formula - to make sure he won't mistake on principles he figured out. I've sensed what this principle is but it's impossible to verbalize it. this principle is constantly getting simplified. but I can compare every event and person with this principle which is almost like certain vibration. the closer it is the greater it is for the world.

we are just energies and vibrations. we attract people with similar vibrations whenever to create more resonance so the energy keeps growing but stay in harmony. it might be intense growth but still harmonious.

the funny thing, as we noted, 90% of new people I met days after this work has done work with this plant.
