

From: Valeria Chomsky <[REDACTED]>

To: "jeffrey E." <jeevacation@gmail.com>

Cc: Noam Chomsky <[REDACTED]>

Subject:

Date: Sat, 13 Jan 2018 04:11:25 +0000

The whole thing is so disrespectful that it is hard to believe.

Noam's children wrote:

"(The marital trust was excluded from this discussion, because it cannot be used to support Valeria.)"

It would be simpler if they could understand that I am not asking to be supported by anyone. I had good jobs my whole life. I worked as analyst and researcher of major financial institutions in Brazil, as a translator for the University of São Paulo, also worked for international IT companies.

When I lived in Boston, in the 1990s, I worked in law firms, as a paralegal.

Now I have a full time job at the University of Arizona, I work with Noam, but I am also Noam's wife. They don't have any rights to scrutinize or decide anything about our life.

I never spent my life being supported by anyone or waiting to receive an inheritance.

Noam and I just want to live in peace and enjoy our life together.