9/11 Tribute for Responders FREE Concert
As Good News Friends you are all invited for FREE

Go to: [REDACTED] search Pete Seeger then put in discount code gof91111. Let 9/11 become a sacred day for all that nonviolent peace will prevail on earth and that we will all accept each other as brothers and sisters void of any other judgments, as separation kills. Our Good News Motto is: All we are is what we are for each other. Together we will all survive without fear.

A 9/11 Commemoration in Music and Film: "LOVE WINS," an afternoon of music, stories, and film will pay tribute to 9/11 responders and to those who lost their lives and loves on that tragic day. Legendary musician and activist Pete Seeger will headline the afternoon, which will feature appearances by musicians performing Deodato's classic "2001" track, and musicians Such As Such, Sharon Benson, Parrots for Peace, Kenn Moutenot, James Cannings, Dina Richardson, Laleh, Cecilia St King, Spook Handy, David LaMotte, and Marian Loguidice. Other special guest musicians to be announced.

As New York prepares for the tenth anniversary of September 11, 2001 attacks, our city will gather together to inspire each other and create a new vision for an harmonious Future. To this end, musicians, spiritual leaders, and members of the medical, education, and faith communities will come together to embrace "courage, sacrifice, healing and renewal" in this extraordinary setting overlooking our beautiful city. All proceeds will go to support scholarships for 9/11 responders and their children. Video testimonies from WTC disaster responders and the companion book, "We're Not Leaving! 9/11 Responders Tell their Stories of Courage, Sacrifice and Renewal" will also be part of the program. Dr. Benjamin Luft, Director, Long Island Medical Monitoring and Treatment Center/State University of New York at Stony Brook and author of this book will share his experiences serving and interviewing the 9/11 community of first responders.
