i cant understand why so bad, i have been preparing for the test for 4 months, so much efforts, time and money invested in it - and still no good result

I am not stupid, i had excellent marks at high school, was among the best in Algebra always!! always did well at university..but the LSAT makes me feel that I am a dumb kid, so crazy i will be taking it again in june or october i think if i ll have enough motivation to prepare for it while in australia..

thank you jeffrey for all your encouragements and help.. you are great and you know it
