HI!

Do you know Peter Thiel?

This is his charitable lab effort. Do you think he'd be interested in funding the Harvard work (with me!) on mitochondrial transplant?

Organelle transplant is a big deal if we can get it right. EVEN if he just gets it right in heart attacks and strokes = super big deal.

Blood, organs, bone marrow...this is next.

McCully has 25 years experience and recently has proven his proof of concept. Just need a champion. BillG probably not gonna be that champion.

What do you think?
