_____

you take a loving caring worried concerns as a mean thing,.   you scream scream scream at a broken object, but ignore the care and attention you have recieved,, I find it vulgar that you continue to refer to paying my expenses. .. we are a couple , if i had the money i would pay yours. .   iam hurt by your lack of help. , you have lawyers but i am forced to fend for myself and then attacked for doing so..

On Fri, Jun 8, 2012 at 4:15 PM, <███████████████> wrote:

Joshua Fink: Either you should attempt to clairfy what you meant by what you wrote or I will assume the worst

Joshua Fink: I don't see how I have treated you poorly and sorry you feel this way....I have shown you tons of love, I have supported you and given this relationship lots of time, I have paid for almost all of your expenses the past year and a half, I have paid for your vacations to miami and ibiza, for flights to visit your family, I have treated you with love and respect in the best way I am able to. And for all of that I should be ashamed of how I treat you???? I guess you see none of it and it was all for nothing. Then you are right, I am a fool and should be ashamed - for loving you and being genuine and supportive of you in the first place. You see none of it and only have wicked mean things to say

Sent via BlackBerry from T-Mobile