Yes I do the show and it's a fun hobby project, but I'm doing it because I get experience with everything. It's a small production. I get to be involved with everything from camera and lighting to editing. I help design the show and write the content, and I get to approve things before they get published.

It also means video proof that I have a relationship with Dave — we work on things together and I have stories I can tell at the immigration interview.

[REDACTED] also does it for immigration. She is here on a modeling visa so it is important to be able to show work on camera.
