At present the poolpak is only able to circulate some of the air from the pool room
If the spa was to be heated to operational temp then the exterior pool doors would need to be opened to allow outside air into the room.
Would you consider installing screen doors so outside air could come in, without all the other creepy crawlies, birds & bats invading the space.
The cost per door enclosure is estimated at $1300.00 installed, would recommend min 3 doors to allow ample air into space.
This would also help when a power loss occurs

The screen doors are the 740 series but with screens not glass and would be close to existing door color.
Can we proceed and if so 3 or 5 doors
