Boris: Nice to hear from you. Mila and I talked a few times on the phone and I also spoke with her boyfriend. We came up with a strategy which will take them about 4-6 months to be ready to file a application for permanent residency. I am not representing them yet. Once they gather the appropriate documentation, I will evaluate it and let them know if the case is strong enough to file.

My office number is still [REDACTED] and my cell is [REDACTED]. Looking forward to hearing from you.

Hi

Hope all is well and you are having some time off!

Just a quick question – A while ago, Mila told me that you were great and that you are found her some possible solutions.

Did you communicate with her since?

Are you representing her?

Thank you!

Boris

PS. Is there any number that I can ask you for a quick question some time during next few days.

OK, I will make her feel very comfortable about going forward if it is possible to do so. I will email her now. I am assuming that you don't want to be copied on our exchanges?

Please again – I insist to cover your time/expense during this time. It is really not a problem.

The reason I am bringing this up is that I am afraid that Mila can't afford so she is likely not to follow through even if you can help.

I just want assure that you are aware of it and that it is not a problem.

Thank you

OK, I will do everything in my power to explore all possibilities. It may take me a few days to do research after I fully understand her situation.

Please I insist to fully cover your time.

Thank you so much!

I am just afraid that her case might be no go.

Thank you

Don't worry about the fee. I will just ask for reimbursement for out of pocket expenses if we can go forward. It is the least I can do for you!

Yes – her long time goal is to obtain a green card.

As I mentioned you I am afraid that it will be super hard and that very creative thinking is required.

If you see that that there is a way how you can help/represent her beyond initial consultation, please let me know and I will cover the cost.

I will send next email to you and her.

THANK YOU

Boris

Boris: I will be happy to talk to Mila to see if I can help her. As always, my consultations are free. I will be as creative as possible while making sure that we comply with all laws to make sure that her continued presence in the US is lawful and protect her future ability to obtain a green card, if that is her long term goal. Let me know the best way to reach her. Thanks, Cathryn

Thank you Cathryn,

Great that you are making progress. I am so sorry re MSFT. I really tried. It is strange how they sometimes select priorities. I guess they are focus on some other social applications for phone and Windows 8.

Sure – please keep me posted. If you want I will meet them – it will need to be in July or so I am s

Now I need to ask you for a help. I have a friend from Russia named Mila that overextended her stay in USA. She is currently leaving in SF on start-up company but her status is questionable.

She would like to correct her mistake and somehow secure her stay / get some legal status.

I know that overextending on visa is never good and easy to fix.

Nevertheless, she was mentioning that for her is even harder to do so as she was on some “boat visa” /transit for the crew that is even more complicated.

Would it be possible that you talked with her over the phone and see if there is anything that can be done. I am afraid that it will need to be VERY creative. Not sure if immigration reform might help.

If OK with you I would connect you with her directly to arrange a call.

If after talking to her you think that there is a way you could help/represent her, please let me know!

Confidentially Mila is financially struggling but I am willing to cover the cost.

Thank you!

Boris

Boris: I hope that you are well. I just wanted to let you know that Jerry and I have made progress with our software since we last communicated. We are talking to Louis Carbonneau and Ed Cummings about working together to bring eidetic 3D design software to market. The ironic part is that they both worked at Microsoft and I believe that Ed still has some connection with them. Small world! As they are based in your part of the country, I will contact you if/when we come there to meet with them. We still owe you a dinner!

I hope all is well. Take Care, Cathryn
