For which location I am glad you reached out I have been working with Brice to fix that for hours and was glad he was making it work New York may need a new router but I felt it was working please advise ... We can talk later if needed but I helped Brice fix your current location The Cisco question is a deeper matter Want to be as clear with you as I can standing by.... but at new client location for a 2 hour period what ever needs to be done to help you ... You know I will always try my best thank you
