I completely understand- I was not critiquing you. That's the one thing I do not like about communicating by text or e-mail; it's easy to lose the human element.

Good morning Larry,

Please put together a detailed list that clearly identifies each squawk so that we can fully understand the discrepancy.

Items such as "bed not right" require greater detail as this may be more about JE's preference that we desire to make him happy rather than something straightforward such "L/H #2 upwash light inop".

I am sure we will speak today and identify a plan of action.

Eric
