

From: BMG <[REDACTED]>
To: J Epstein <jeevacation@gmail.com>
Cc: Richard Kahn <[REDACTED]>
Subject: Fwd: Sony Install
Date: Sat, 21 Dec 2013 19:58:48 +0000

FYI

Sent from my iPhone

Begin forwarded message:

From: [REDACTED]
Date: December 21, 2013 at 12:36:18 PM MST
To: Brice Gordon <[REDACTED]>
Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Sony Install

Brice.

Just tracked this again at noon today, it is out for delivery from Albuquerque terminal at 9:46 AM today, your guess is as good as mine as to the delivery time but you can call me at anytime up until about 10PM.

I found the HD cable on line Kordz model Pro HD 2000 20 meter cable as recommended by Sony as working with 4K at this length(about 65 feet). It is available from a company located in Miami that only offers ground shipping which would take about 5 days and they are only open Mon-Fri, as is the manufacturer, Kordz products who are in Sunnyvale,CA. I would recommend the Manufacturer as they could probably provide Fedex but neither are available by phone until Monday. I tried calling Sony projector support, as the manufacturer does not claim 4K support on this cable, as the Sony Projector tech told me, and they also are only open Mon-Fri.

In reading the manual for the media player, they call for Cat7 cable, which may or may not be available locally at CSC cable in Albuquerque. I called one of their employees at home and he told me they were not yet selling Cat 7 but had some samples of it...that would be a Monday answer as well. In my opinion, the existing Cat5 cables are only supplying the internet to the player and the Cat7 may be just wishful thinking. At the current speeds you have, the cat5 should be adequate and there are two of them running to the rack location(I think) from the unused cat5 to HDMI converter at the projector location.

Realistically, the only available info on the tablet was viewed by me on the Sony website prior to my survey and the way this has gone, I don't know how to assess this until it is in hand.

We, of course, will be only happy to assist you as you so desire.

I got about 6" of snow at my house last night but I don't know how you were affected there.

Regards,

EFTA00979407

Jim
cell [REDACTED]

From: "Brice Gordon" <[REDACTED]>
To: "Jim Cloud" <[REDACTED]>
Sent: Saturday, December 21, 2013 10:11:11 AM
Subject: Sony Install

Jim

a couple of questions

- 1.How long will it take to get specified HDMI Cable?
- 2.Can one of the existing Cat 5 cables be used for internet feed to multi media player to equipment cabinet?
- 3.When do you expect to receive tablet.?

regards

--
Brice Gordon
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]