[This is an automated response.]

Dear Friend,

Thank you for writing me.

Due to work overload, my interest in too many things, my inability to take into account the opportunity costs of my time, and my general inability to say no — combined with my particular physical limitations — I am just unable to manage.

With this in mind, and for my health and sanity, I need to focus on the projects that I have already committed to and cut down on the time I spend responding to emails to about an hour a day.

With this in mind, please consider the following:

Here is a list of answers to FAQs

What is this nonsense about not doing email? (<http://y2u.be/LFZfhamDJR0>)

What do you mean by the term irrational? (<http://y2u.be/vvkgHOzTEtQ>)

I don't buy that your experiments on free have shown that people are irrational? (<http://y2u.be/MDQf6x8tcXA>)

If I want to get more depth knowledge on behavioral economics what classes should I take?

If you are inviting me to give a talk, I am sorry but at this point my schedule for the rest of 2017 is fully booked. But if you want to try and set something for 2018 please send an email to [REDACTED] with the title "Talk 2018"

If you are interested in an interview, please write: [REDACTED]

If you don't want to receive my automated response message, please submit this form.

For anything else, please use the shortwhale system (link below) and I will try to answer emails as they come but please know that if you don't receive a response from me, it's just a matter of too many emails and too little time.

Thanks for your help understanding.

Irrationally yours

Dan
