

From: "jeffrey E." <jeevacation@gmail.com>

To: Lvjet <[REDACTED]>

Subject: Re: B727 new buyer

Date: Fri, 20 Jun 2014 15:56:59 +0000

4m

On Fri, Jun 20, 2014 at 11:46 AM, Lvjet <[REDACTED]> wrote:

Jeffrey,

I received an email from Scott Stambaugh, the owner if the maintenance shop in Brunswick GA,. He indicates that an Egyptian company purchased Forges Old B727 back in 2011, that needs a lot of work to make airworthy, he is trying to push our aircraft as a turn key option to get flying fast,. Scott is a wheeler dealer, but has contacts, his motivation is, he would maintain the Boeing for the Egyptians, and helps us sell your B727.

Scott is asking what price you would take for the Boeing,.

what Price should I tell ? thanks Larry, its a long shot,.

From Scott Stambaugh:

Larry,

I spoke with the Egyptians' (remember I mentioned about sending them to you), Well, they are asking what price would buy your 727?

Trust me [REDACTED] not adding anything, or on top of it, they have a 727-100 (old Forbes plane) that has been in a hanger since 2011. Major embarrassment for them. It is still torn apart and the cost to finish it is sky high.

They don't want to purchase a 727 that would have to go to C check (because of this) but thinking of "trade in scenario".

I think I can get a few hundred thousand for parting their 727 out (avionics, kits, etc...that were purchased for upgrades but never installed) which could help off-set the cost of buying yours. They get an airplane flying, your boss gets paid... I keep maintaining this airplane... you, if you wanted to could keep overseeing it... everybody wins.

Scott Stambaugh

--

please note

The information contained in this communication is confidential, may be attorney-client privileged, may constitute inside information, and is intended only for the use of the addressee. It is the property of JEE

Unauthorized use, disclosure or copying of this communication or any part thereof is strictly prohibited

EFTA00992187

and may be unlawful. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us immediately by return e-mail or by e-mail to jeevacation@gmail.com, and destroy this communication and all copies thereof, including all attachments. copyright -all rights reserved