Dear Mr. Epstein,

Sorry for taking so long to send you the trailers we had talked about, I have been in high demand in the laboratory recently which kept me too busy to complete the work. We have now completed the trailer for Season 2 of NEURO.tv and we will be launching the Kickstarter campaign for Season 2 in 3 days. VelaSusan and I would like to know if your foundation would be willing to contribute to our show this year.

Here is the trailer:

And here is a list of sample episodes:

Discussion with Nita Farahany, Professor of Law and Philosophy at Duke:

Discussion with Kay Tye, Assistant Professor of Neuroscience at MIT:

Discussion with Joshua D. Greene, Professor of Psychology at Harvard:

All of our published episodes are available at <http://neuro.tv> and 5 more episodes will be published for Season 1 until February 2015.

You should have received our annual report documenting our episodes and accomplishments from VelaSusan. We intend to improve the show visually this year so as to make it more fun to view and increase our audience. The trailer provides a good preview of the new format, but we have been somewhat short on budget on Season 1 and were unable to reach that level of video editing. We now have most hardware purchased which should allow us to improve the flow of the episodes and the quality of the video editing. We could produce 12 brand-new episodes with higher visual quality with anywhere from $30,000 to $50,000 from your foundation, which is, for NEURO.tv, a necessary source of funding in order to maintain our activities, at least at our current level of operation.

Concerning the book project, I will be contacting you in a separate email later because some aspects of the trailer require re-filming and so we might need a month to complete it.

We hope we can count on your contribution to our unique educational initiative this year!
