You're very generous -- thank you. My best laid plans have already shifted; I'll now have to go off to join John Kerry in Oman with the Iranians at the end of this week, so our stay in St. John this time will only be three days. I promised Lisa we'd just spend the time together, but hope we can take a rain check, since I'll want to finish this aborted vacation sometime in the next few months. Will also let you know when I next get up to NY, sometime in late Nov or early Dec. Enjoy next week, and see you soon.

Off to Virgin Islands tomorrow for a week, and about to walk out the door of State Department for last time. I've agreed to serve as President of the Carnegie Endowment in Washington, beginning in February. They've been generous about allowing me a third of my time for other activities, so I remain very much interested in consulting or advisory arrangements. Hope to get up to NY again in next month, and will be in touch. Thanks again for all your interest and advice. All best, Bill
