See par 16-19 in the attached. Complaint in Dec 2010. I recall OPR rejected the Cassell Complaint and in some pleading there was a reference to OPRs reluctance to review given overlap of issues pending in ongoing litigation. In March of 2011, there was the Acosta letter. In Aug of 2011 there was a hearing where the petitioners say the recusal or OPR issue was mentioned. I will send you more materials as I access them.

My memory is that OPR declined to investigate based on the Cassell Dec 2010 complaint finding that the complaint was the subject of ongoing litigation and that the recusal came later and was based not on Cassell's complaint but on other matters (maybe referred to OPR by Sloman, see last night's pleading and dkt 260, attached, where they refer to a separate time period in Aug 2011. We can track it down - thru their privilege logs (dates), perhaps the unsealed pleadings from last year where we first learned of the officewide recusal. I am quite certain the recusal did not emanate from the Cassell OPR complaint from Dec 2010.

The 12-19-07 letter at pg 2 references the USAO view of CVRA (referred to in last nights pleading at pg 10). See also the 12-6-07 Sloman letter also relied on to set forth the USAO position on CVRA.
