I've looked through a whole bunch of board resumes and it's hard to know what to include? executive education, undergraduate education, majors, etc.

It seems different across all. Most of them just list a professional degree and nothing else. Obviously they have more.

I need to talk to someone that does this stuff for a living - suspect [REDACTED] will have some advice.

When I research stuff from a technical angle I get too many options.

Not going to send out something that doesn't feel like me.

Yes of course I get that part. I will make sure my degrees are in there. Not sure what degree she has. I just like the flow of hers. She's always kind of done the same thing (communications) so maybe a bit easier to tell her story. Her brand is "communications person" can't figure out what mine is.
