im working with my Harvard guys on "thought." . I posit that thought is similar to vision , hearing etc. we percieve thought in a narrow band of a spectrum of " thought processes " like visible light i the spectrum of radiation. or perceived sounds in the band of soundwaves. . I suggest that like infra red. there is a speed that is not perceived. though it is received. body processes may be too "fast or slow" to perceive unless a problem occurs. stomach ache . etc. directed motion. . so councious thought is a narrow band of wider thought
