Jeffrey

I spoke with the broker regarding the 727 you found,,
Pretty much a bait and switch, he says he doesn't know where the aircraft is located currently, it is foreign registry, he keeps advertising it, once you call him he forwards another aircraft he has with airline configuration for sale, see attached

Typical broker

Thx

LARRY,

Here are good specs from Owners. I will send you maintenance forecasts next.

I have noticed TAG Aviation that I am working with you and your company. Please let me know any questions you might have. Please contact me to request an appointment when you want to go to Lasham to view the plane rather than contacting Owners directly. I am sure we can set this up for you most anytime.

Prefer you discuss the interior relocation with Scott since I will not be in the middle of that phase. (I am on speaking terms with Scott, but last time we had a plane there the last bill was contested and sure your relationship is better than mine so best you don't mention me or my company, since there is no reason to do so.)

Regards,

Jack
