Good Evening

In my option, no

Kyle has confirmed the workmanship is bad, we all agree he does not have the skill set to complete this project
Once we get anything on site it is then ours and we are stuck with it, it will not be good

At this point he has all the material and we have seen the quality of his work in his shop, this will not change
once he is on site

I know you do not want to hear this but this is the time to "cut bait"

Cabanas will be fine and we can install temporary countertops in pool cabana after your visit

Brice expects proposals from Kitchen Solvers next week. They have been very engaged about this project

No compromise is my opinion

Please advise

Warmest regards

Karen
