Jeffrey I didn't lie again. I was working at Petersham for almost a year for you because I wanted to prove you that I could do it and also because you told me to, until I met my boyfriend this summer who offered to take care of me. I didn't lie to you. Understand that if I was still working at Petersham at this time I would still be dependent on you for the rent as I couldn't support myself with what I was earning and you didn't want to give me any future so what I did and the decision I made to quit my job in the summer is totally understandable. I feel much more peaceful and relieved now that I don't have financial problems and have a roof over my head. I really appreciated your help and I will be forever grateful and I feel better now that I don't need your financial support as I felt it was a burden for you. I always defend you against everyone and it hurts me to know that you wouldn't do the same for me. What I greatly suffer, everyday, is that you completely disappeared and left me alone after you told me that you forgave me knowing how attached I was/am to you as you represented the world to me. I really miss your presence, talking to you on a daily basis because there is nothing that made me more happy than hearing your voice and having you by my side.

Which behavior are you talking about ? You kept saying this for years by lowering my self esteem and saying very mean things to me when the only thing that I wanted was to make you happy.

Hope that one day you realize how you destroyed a person's life by acting the way you did.
