Greetings Rich,

I just spoke with Mr. Jackson. He is on island, he says he spoke with Mike - he is scheduled for this Friday, 11/30.

Good day.

Mr Jackson, Jackson Crane, is still off island and has promised to contact me when he returns from the holiday.

He could not specify as to a particular day for his return. This is how it goes here.

Both gensets are sitting next to the Q hut awaiting a crane to set them in their permanent location. The crane was cancelled due to the barge being out of service last week. The crane operator is off island until 11-14. I will call him then to get on his schedule asap. After getting them set they should be on-line within a week. Once the Q hut is extended around and over them some exhaust work will need to be done and should be completed in 3-4 days.

On Mr Epstein's last visit we were told that the Q Hut and generator were too close to the pool area and they both should be moved further away. That is currently being layed out as to location and cost.

Hello Rich

attached, proposed Fuel Reading submittal

Reminder Mike and I did discuss with you Fuel reading submittals
Since the last 8000 gallon top off June 2018, for hurricane season usage been minimal, as Generators have basically been off line for several months.

This what we would propose for future submittals

With both LSJ and now GSJ Gensets back in service we will have Smiley Submit to You, Mike, Daphne, Karen and Myself

Fuel Readings on the 1st and 15th of every Month.

The first reading will be submitted around Nov 15th

At this time, we will need fill Fuel truck only, which Mike plans to schedule for the beginning of next week.

Does this work for you?

regards Brice
